BISHOP BRENT DECLINES.

For Second Time He Refuses to Leave Philippines for Bishop of Washington. For Second Time He Refases to Leave Philippines for Bishop of Washington.

WASHINGTON, August 4.—Bishop Charles Henry Brent, of the Philippine Islands, has again declined to become Bishop of Washington.

His decision is announced in a letter received in Washington yesterday written by the Philippine bishop in Boston. His reasons, he says, are the same which governed his declination of the first election—that it is God's will that he remain in the Philippines. Bishop Brent indicates that the only reason which made him hesitate about declining the second election was a fear that his health was being universimined by the Philippine climate, and a further stay in the Islands threatened a serious physical breakdown. His physician in Boston has pronounced his present illness not chronic, he wiltes, and therefore he will return to his former work.
